

Candise Farmer is the founder of Enough Grace Ministries, an outreach organization that is committed to spreading the message of hope which can only be found in God's Word.

Being born into the care of devoutly Christ-loving parents, Bill and Linda Moody, Candise was drawn by the Lord to saving faith in Jesus at the age of 8. As a child and teenager, Candise developed a deep passion and dependency upon the Word of God. In recent years, the Lord has allowed Candise to speak - sharing Scriptural insights and her personal testimony - at various church, pro-life, hunting/outdoor, student, and women's ministry events.

Candise and Rusty, her husband of 25 years, live in Springville, Tennessee, where they also serve students. Rusty enjoys traveling with Harvest Outdoor Ministries, sharing the Gospel at wild game dinners and ministering at hunting/outdoor events.

Candise is the author of Green Pastures of a Barren Land, a book that offers seven Biblical principles of contentment which are set within her family's journey through childlessness. She loves being "Aunt C" to her two nieces and six nephews.

God inspires folks from all walks of life through Candise's reliance upon His grace and mercy as bringing redemptive beauty to the messy spots of her life.
